

GROUP 4: ASSETS WORTH LESS THAN $2,200

Workshop 3: Our Choices

Zele

I am 15 years old. I was forced to flee my home last year because of clashes between the DRC military and armed groups. I'm now living in an informal settlement for internally displaced people. I now weave baskets and spend time with other teenagers which all help me to cope. That day we went to school but when we got back, we heard gunshots. Our mothers had already fled so we fled too. I escaped with a group of other children without our parents.

"I now live alone in this camp. I am so uncertain of my future and hope that one day I can find my family."

Democratic Republic of Congo?

How does war affect children?

What is the definition of refugee and internally displaced person?

How must Zele feel to be living alone in a refugee camp without her family?

How does she imagine her future?
