

GROUP 4: ASSETS WORTH LESS THAN $2,200

Workshop 3: Our Choices

Kalala

My name is Kalala and I am 12 years old. When I was just 5 years old, I started work in the diamond mines. I found diamonds everyday but would only earn between $1-2 a day. I found diamonds every day. With the money I bought food, clothes and brought the rest back to my family. My father is a poor farmer.

See Kalala's video here

"The mines are a dangerous place for children and my family could not afford for me to quit working."

Democratic Republic of Congo?

What are the reasons for children having to go to work?

What can a government/consumers/you do to protect children from this kind of work?

What is the relationship between education and child labour?
