Workshop 3: Our Choices

Hannah Godefa

I am 15 and from Canada but my family comes from Ethiopia. I am a UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador of Human Rights for Ethiopia.

I began an international movement called pencil mountain which helps collect school supplies for Ethiopian children. At the moment I am on a trip to Ethiopia to see how the country has made progress in reducing child mortality.

"I have always dreamt of helping children, but I never expected I will have such a chance. I have an important message to Ethiopian students and that is education is key to their success."

Ethiopia?

What's it like to be a child in Ethiopia?

What does 'child mortality rate' mean?

If we are to continue to reduce the child mortality rate post-2015, what can we learn from countries like Ethiopia?
